Remark from USLACC Representative, African Region

USLACC Africa's Role in Achieving Economic and Technological Growth in Africa

Amb. Ifeoma M. Ejiogu
USLACC Rep. African Region

I warmly welcome you to this auspicious event as I share my passion for African Development. Thank you my Dear President, Dr. Manolo Cevallos for the opportunity you created for me to serve my continent in the capacity of the African Representative of USLACC and for the encouragement you have been through the journey from 2015 till date. My profound gratitude also goes to the Charge' d'affaires, Ambassador Samson itegboje who graciously provided this facility to host this event at the embassy, thank you, your Excellency.

I also thank the Chairman of this Occasion, Antoine N. Belale, for accepting this role even at a short notice. Thank you my esteemed guests and audience for honoring this invitation; it clearly shows your love and belief in Africa.

USLACC Africa since its inception has hosted business, trade and technological growth events in the USA, Canada, Italy, Nigeria, Kenya, Ghana, Cote d'Ivoire, Benin Republic, Madagascar, etc. in collaboration with local and foreign partners where participants gained valuable knowledge and exposure.

We have facilitated funding for Small and Medium Enterprise (SME) owners, linked African businesses across various sectors to foreign markets, and executed community development initiatives, among other developmental strides.

The USLACC Africa Week in USA holding today and tomorrow affords another opportunity for us to accomplish our essence of existence. This event offers a platform to highlight the immense potentials of Africa, its vibrant cultures, and its dynamic economies. It is also a moment to deepen the connection between Africa and the US for mutual growth and opportunity utilization.

Africa is often described as the "Continent of the future". With a population of over 1.4 billion people, an abundance of natural resources, and a rapidly expanding youthful workforce, Africa stands at the forefront of global economic growth. However, the journey to unlocking the full potentials of this vast continent cannot be done in isolation. It requires partnerships, innovation, and the sharing of ideas across borders. USLACC recognizes these incredible opportunities present on the African continent; we therefore, build bridges between Africa and the world for harnessing and promotion.

At USLACC Africa, our mission is simple but profound; to bring Africa to the forefront of global relevance through:

- International and local capacity building and Business Development Programs
- Linkages with foreign investors
- Facilitation of Funds (Loans and Grants) to boost SME Enterprises
- Education of African business owners on world-best practices
- Promotion of Women & Youth Development
- Creativity and Technology promotion

At the very core of our mission is enhancing the Technological competence of Africans for the purpose of using it as a tool for Africa's development, with major focus on youths. We carry out this through the vehicle called Technological Development Program for African Youth (TECH-DPAY).

Today, I invite our friends and partners from across the US to continue working with us to actualize our mission for mutual benefits. We are open for partnership and collaborations. Let us remember that the challenges Africa faces - be it in infrastructure, education, security, healthcare, etc., are not insurmountable.

Thank you for being a part of this journey. We are not just building trade partnerships; we are building bridges of opportunity, prosperity, and lasting friendship.

Enjoy the rest of the event.

About TECH - DPAY

TECHNOLOGY DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM FOR AFRICAN YOUTHS (TECH-DPAY) is an initiative of USLACC AFRICA, through the African Representative of United States Latino American Chamber of Commerce, Ambassador Ifeoma Mary Ejiogu. This overseas Technology conference which has been designed to run in various advanced countries of the world, is aimed at furnishing the African Youth with technological knowledge and exposures which would unlock the continent's prospects and potentials, hereby, engineering a mega shift in the Continent's technological history.

TECH-DPAY is not taking a hit and run approach, rather it will take a systematic and periodic sequence with participants having opportunities to build a strong and purposeful network in the field of technology, innovation and digitalization. You can agree with me that the need to provide our youth with international exposures and opportunities to interact, share and network with their counterparts in the advance world is paramount now.

More so, the idea of creating avenues where the youth will travel to developed countries to witness practically, industries, factories, manufacturing firms where modern machines are used and fabricated, is timely. African Youth have acquired academic knowledge, they now need the methodology necessary for experimentation and empirical validation of the theories learnt in school.

USLACC Africa has a very good efficient administrative system which will be deployed to checkmate, organize, supervise, mentor and ensure youths are engaged in this strategic training, optimization of their career which results will translate to the development of Africa.

Our Vision

To raise a generation of technology innovators, digital experts and creative minds for effective and inclusive productivity capacity.

Our Mission

To entrench the culture of invention, innovation, critical thinking traits and digital creativity.

Our Tools

International Exposures, on-site training and knowledge-building from manufacturing companies, factories and industries in the advanced world.

Our Aim

1. To change the Narrative and unlock African's innovative potentials for best practices.
2. To engineer a Mega Shift in the continent's economy and increase in GDP
3. To engage the youths in joining to drive the economy using technology

AFRICAN CHILD EXPRESSION OF AFRICA

Goodness C. Ejiogu
The Young Poet

What do I see?

I see talents like gold,
I see great minds like diamond ,
I see these precious pebbles in a certain land,
She is a distinct land stocked with treasures, Into the future I see these pebbles mined out of the ground,
Refined into vast value,

Though this land has been scorched with fire of terrorism,
Swirled with the breeze of misrule,
Tried with storms of hardship,
This ground is a treasury.

I see people from all nations of the world, Stand in marvel at our air of edge and wonders,
They stand at our radiance.

I see Africa thriving, triumphing.

She is a treasury.
